SURVIVING WINTER

By Charles Thomson

PEOPLE should look out for elderly neighbours, friends and relatives over the cold festive season, charities have warned.

Although the Met Office has not forecast snow, many house bound pensioners will struggle to stay warm.

The National Energy Action charity said that several thousand people will die in Essex and east London over the winter because they cannot afford heating.

Fuel bills have risen by an average of £200 per household this year. The Government has cut winter fuel payments from £400 to £300 for over 80s and from £250 to £200 for all other pensioners.

Age UK is aiming to raise awareness by providing information, advice and practical services on how to stay warm and alive.

The campaign is supported by politicians on all sides of the political divide.

Baroness Angela Smith of Basildon, said: "I'm supporting the Age UK pledge. We have to raise awareness of the dangers to health of cold weather and cold homes."

"With the coalition government providing a lower winter fuel allowance this year, I will continue to challenge energy providers to produce simple tariffs to make it easier for people to lower their bills."

Yellow Advertiser is promoting the Surviving Winter Appeal, which launched six weeks ago.

The campaign urges wealthier pensioners with expendable income to donate their winter fuel allowance to elderly people living in fuel poverty.

The appeal has raised almost £25,000 across Essex and East London.

Jo Murphy, from the Essex Community Foundation, which is running the Essex branch of the campaign, said: "The huge amount raised is thanks to the generosity of local people who have made donations of all sizes."

"We are particularly grateful to the Yellow Advertiser for all their support in promoting the appeal."

To donate to the appeal, cut out and fill in the adjacent form.

If you are struggling with the cold, call Age UK Advice on 0800 169 6565 or called Age Concern Essex on 01245 346106.

COLD: Many pensioners in Southend will die because they cannot afford to turn on the heating this winter.

Helping those in need

By Paul Giles

SINCE the founder of the Salvation Army set up a tent in Whitechapel in 1865 the ethos of the organisation has remained unchanged.

William Booth set up the Christian Revival Society, which evolved into the Salvation Army.

Through his work he hoped that if people repented they would be offered salvation through accepting Jesus Christ.

In its infancy the most needy of society – including alcoholics, morphine addicts, criminals and prostitutes – would attend meetings.

Now, in modern times, the Salvation Army still offers a guiding hand to those in need within our communities.

Captain Simon Purkins, from the Southend Salvation Army, which has been in the town for 125 years, believes the essence of the charity remains spiritually the same.

In his 31 years with the organisation he has found himself travelling the country.

Captain Purkins explained: "I don't think much has changed since Victorian times, the rich get rich and poor get poorer."

"The whole phrase that encapsulates our ethos is 'To save the lost, grow saints and serve suffering humanity.'"

"We still spread the word of the Gospel while we work."

Examples of its good work can be seen in work in its history from helping people in the Galveston Hurricane of 1900 in America, to more recent disasters like the Haiti earthquake.

When speaking to Captain Purkins about how the organisation has evolved in the modern world he uses phrases to round up the way it has grown.

Talking about who the charity helps, there is no hesitation. He just simply SALVATION: Captain Simon Purkins with Major Nina Turner and Major John Turner.

Picture by Mark Cleveland

says the Salvation Army is a place 'where the imperfect are perfectly welcome.'

He also says where a society is becoming so defragmented the charity offers a perfect community.

Work carried out by officers includes soup kitchens, collecting blankets for the homeless, raising money, and many other general chores to make life better for others.

Talking about the current financial downturn, Captain Purkins said it had created more demand from people on the charity.

He said: "We offer a light hot meal and a food parcel for people twice a week and the numbers have definitely gone up. It is a sign of the times and it's only going to get worse before it picks up."

"But as it does get worse we will be there to help people through it all."

"We try and meet the need of the 21st Century and achieve that."

"We believe we are here to help the disenfranchised people of the world."

There is a stereotype of the uniform, shaking a tin for funds, brass bands and soup kitchens.

However, since it started in the East End of London it has now gone international in to more than 120 countries.

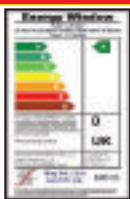

From its origins to the modern world the main backbone to the group appears to be to offer humanity to those less well off in society.

From one Ron Piper to another

COINCIDENCE: Ron 1 sits to the right of Ron 2 outside the White Hart pub.
Picture by Mark Cleveland

By Charles Thomson

A CHRISTMAS tale. I'm in a pub, while two men look at old Army pictures remembering their National Service in Egypt.

They say they are not related – but I wonder whether it's possible they have never met. It was the culmination of a strange series of coincidences that brought us together.

Ron Piper, from Benfleet, sent Yellow Advertiser a letter after the London riots. He said he'd done his National Service 58 years ago in Egypt and it made a man of him. He said it should be reinstated to discipline destructive teenagers.

YA published Ron's letter and a few days later the phone rang. It was Ron Piper, from Benfleet. There was a letter in the paper about his life. It had his name under it – but he hadn't written it. Ron thought someone was impersonating him but couldn't understand how they knew him so well.

We then managed to unearth a startling case of coincidence. There were two Ron Pipers living in the area who both did National Service in Egypt and at the same time.

We brought them together at the White Hart pub to share their stories.

Ron 1, who sent the letter, lives in Benfleet. His father was called Ernest – which, in another coincidence, is Ron 2's middle name.

Ron 1 was a tearaway. He said: "My favourite subject was truancy. I'd go about knocking phone boxes to get my lunch money.

"One time I swapped my glasses for a catapult. I spent three weeks on remand for breaking into a gas meter."

In his late teens he sold his bicycle to pay for his driving test but failed. When he went for his National Service, he applied for driving training.

In late 1952 he went to Egypt. He served in Ismailia and Moascar and was put in charge of transport.

He said: "I had a cushy job but it done me good to go in the army. It brightened my outlook on life and made a man out of me."

Ron 2 was born in 1935 and, unlike Ron 1, was a well-behaved young man – although he admits to throwing the odd banger around fireworks night. He left school at 15 and worked as a mechanic's apprentice until he did his National Service. He travelled to Egypt in March 1953 and, like Ron 1, worked as a driver.

He served in El Kirsh – roughly 30 miles from Ron 1's stations in Moascar and Ismailia, but says his time wasn't as 'cushy' as his namesake's.

He had been there less than a month when he took some of the lads swimming. As he waited in the truck, a man tried to rob him. "The guy went for my throat with a knife," said Ron. "Luckily, I managed to knock him off and drive around the block."

He didn't enjoy the army but, like Ron 1, believes National Service instils respect.

He said: "I didn't like it. It turns you into a man but I could never have made a life of it."

The coincidences continued after their service. Both enjoyed speedway racing and loved Elvis Presley and Tommy Steele. Nowadays, they both enjoy watching wildlife documentaries.

Both have worked as lorry drivers. When a man called Fred Wright left Market Garden to work at Shell with Ron 1, it was Ron 2 who took over his job.

Both of their sons own caravans in Clacton, which is handy because both Rons prefer holidaying in the UK.

Outside the pub, Ron 1 said: "It's like looking at my brother."

The men said they might trace backwards to see if they are related.

The two Rons and their wives have continued to meet up since we met at the pub.

Ron 1's wife Pam said: "We're seeing them again in the New Year. I think we've made good friends."

Picture by Mark Cleveland

The letter – written by one Ron Piper – endorsed by the other

AS A senior citizen like Mr Terry Christmas I feel very strongly in respect to the wanton destruction caused by teenagers who are bored, no jobs, not that they all want them, but live off the dole with no prospect for their future.

Surely it would make them a better class of people to be in the National Service, if only they would bring it back. It would make men of them to wear the uniform and be respected by all, and serve out country at the same time.

I did my National Service 58 years ago and I must say I did benefit by it in more ways than one and was proud to be in the army. I served in Egypt with the R.C.S.C.

And when I see our royals in uniform, surely like me it must make one proud to be British. So come on The Government and bring back National Service.

Think of all those on the dole. Make men of them. "It could" "Or it might".

Helping hospital patients feel fab

A PROJECT helping hospital patients feel glamorous after chemotherapy has celebrated a major milestone.

'Look Good...Feel Better' has celebrated its first birthday, helping hundreds of women pamper themselves in a time of need.

The charity, which helps women regain their confidence and style after undergoing cancer treatment, has worked all year with Southend Hospital.

Every month make-up and beauty consultants give up two hours of their time to give advice on skin care and make up, handing out goodie bags of top-quality products donated by major cosmetic companies.

Sarah Wakeman, Look Good...Feel Better's regional co-ordinator, has worked behind the scenes.

She said: "Many of the women have lost their hair, eyebrows and lashes which can be extremely demoralising and hard to cope with at a time when a positive attitude is very important.

"The workshops are designed to help beat the side effects of cancer treatment and so boost the women's confidence and well-being.

Dr Anne Robinson, consultant oncologist at Southend Hospital, has watched her patients get an 'extra boost' after undergoing treatment with her.

She said: "We are so delighted with all that the charity has done for our patients over the last year.

"Hearing the buzz and seeing all the happy faces at the anniversary celebration is a tribute to the tremendous boost they give to women when they are often feeling at their lowest."

Look Good...Feel Better was set up by the Cosmetic Toiletry and Perfumery Association and gained charitable status in 1993.

The programme has the support of more than 40 leading companies and brands in the beauty industry.

Sessions are held in more than 59 locations throughout the UK, in hospitals and cancer care centres.

Nina Thompson, from Leigh, has always taken pride of her appearance and refused to be beaten by cancer after being diagnosed in November last year.

The mother-of-one said: "I was terrified and I wasn't looking my best during my treatment. I didn't want my daughter seeing me that way, so I took the opportunity to get help from Look Good...Feel Better.

"The advice you get is amazing and you get hundreds of pounds worth of beauty products for free. These beauticians and companies who supply the products are unsung heroes."

For more information visit www.lookgood-feelbetter.co.uk or call 01702 435555.

BENEFIT: Nina Thompson has been making herself look glamorous during cancer treatment.

We've got the Esse-X Factor

By Peter Henn

I LIVE in Essex and last Christmas I wrote an article explaining why people from Essex are the most wonderful people in the world, blessed with a communal sprinkling of X Factor magic dust. My justification for this assertion? Reality TV in the noughties was dominated by winners from Essex and the fringes of East London.

They included Diversity winning Britain's Got Talent, Southend's Lee Mead winning Any Dream Will Do, Wickford's Chantelle Houghton and Basildon's Brian Belo both winning in Big Brother. Ilford's Arjun Rajyagor became the then Sir

Alan and now Lord Sugar's first Junior Apprentice. Dagenham's Stacey Solomon and Witham's Olly Murs came second and third on X Factor, but went on to become bigger and more memorable than the eventual winner, whose name escapes me! In short, I said people from Essex were remarkable for their universal appeal. But I was wrong. 2011 has proved the Essex school of reality likeableness is simply earth-shatteringly AMAZING.

The first, second and third place winners of I'm a Celebrity were all from Essex. McFly's Dougie Poynter, who is from Corringham, won, while runner-up – and star of The Only Way Is Essex (TOWIE) Mark Wright – is from Brentwood, and was born in Buckhurst Hill. Third place went to Fatima Whitbread, who grew up in Chadwell St Mary and went to school in South Ockendon.

While we're on the subject of Wright and TOWIE. The show featuring Essex people was another winner in 2011. It scooped a prestigious BAFTA.

There was another X Factor first. Jesy Nelson, from Romford, was part of the show's winners Little Mix, the first group to do so. Then the following weekend Dougie's McFly bandmate Harry Judd, from

RUNNER UP: Fatima Whitbread. Picture by Martin Dalton

Chelmsford, won Strictly Come Dancing.

If this success remains illusive to others, its secret is no mystery. We are either hard working, brilliant talented or both.

Jenny Probert, a sociology lecturer at Havering College – Stacey Solomon's Alma Mater – said that while it was important not to fall prey to stereotyping, there was a certain element of tradition in the Essex Reality Boom.

She explained: "If you look at someone like Stacey, some people might think she falls into the Essex stereotype, but she is actually incredibly determined and driven."

Southend – home of Any Dream Will Do winner Lee Mead – has always had a thriving local music scene. But Syd Moore, who teaches the BTEC in Publishing at South Essex College and edits the Level Four magazine, said it was the type of character produced by the area that won people over.

She explained: "People from here are warm, humble and unpretentious, and that's something that goes down well. I knew Brian Belo when he was at the college, and he was a really good guy."

So there we have it. It seems the reason Essex and East London does so well in talent shows and on reality TV is because, put simply, we are all brilliant. But then you knew that.

WELL DONE: Greenskeepers Terry Sapsford, Dan Hartley, head greenkeeper Peter Dawson and Sam Cooke.

Picture by Mark Cleveland

By Pat Jones

HONEY is a firm favourite already – and it looks as if home grown apple juice is about to join it.

We are talking about sales in a county golf club-house here!

Members of South Essex Golf Centre take their eco image very seriously after greenkeeper Paul Dawson steered the club to a fourth national environmental award.

They snap up honey he produces from the hives he has installed around the course – and are showing interest in apple juice, his latest venture.

The Herongate club was highly commended – again – in this autumn's Golf Environment Awards from the Sports Turf Research Institute (STRI).

The 27-hole course – it has three nine hole sections – is home to bees, butterflies and all sorts of fauna in the rough, not to mention wild flower and vegetables, as well as immaculate greens.

Peter, who has been head greenkeeper at the club for 15 years, has always been interested in the environment and keen to do his bit for nature.

He lives in east London and loves working in rural Brentwood.

"It's great to escape from the built up area I live in and come to work in the country," he said.

"It's been a real pleasure to give nature a hand.

"We won £500 in 2005 and decided to use it to send me and a colleague on a beekeeping course – there was a lot of publicity at the time about how bees were under threat, and thought we could help them." The club set up three hives, and Peter became beekeeper as well as green keeper – and honey maker!

Last year he decided to have a go and produce juice from the apple trees totted around the 260-acre course.

They are also experimenting with allotments, hoping to grow vegetables for the club kitchens.

"We have also sown wild flowers and do all we can to encourage wildlife in the rough, around the course," Peter said. Club manager Shaun Bakker is delighted with Peter's winning ways

"It is a pleasure for our members to play in such beautiful surroundings, and a great privilege to be part of a much bigger environmental push," he said.

The Facts:

South Essex Centre on the A128 just past its junction with the A127 provides –

- Fourteen Bay floodlit driving range.
- Practice putting green.
- Practice chipping area.
- A fully stocked golf shop.
- Crown Golf Teaching Academy fully staffed with PGA Qualified Golf Professionals.
- Clubhouse, bar and restaurant.
- Function room available for event hire.
- A fleet of Yamaha golf buggies Golf clubs and trolleys for hire.

Fighting against the stigma of transgenders in Pakistan

DANCING FOR HER SUPPER: Baby Zulfiqar.

By Suzi Muston

FOR thousands of years, Pakistan's transgender community have suffered prejudice and persecution.

There are more than 80,000 transgenders across the country, and until recently, this group of people have been prevented from getting legitimate work or voting as they had not been recognised by the authorities and were denied identity cards.

Just one month ago, the country's supreme court ordered transgenders to be given identity cards, which now means they can vote and work.

Before this, transgenders, known as Hirjas, were forced to earn money as door-to-door dancers, as no one would employ them.

For many, they had to endure a dangerous life as sex workers, trailing around Pakistan's streets at night, sometimes suffering violence in the form of gang rapes or grievous bodily harm.

Transgenders are born with breasts but do not possess other female organs. Some have male organs, others have nothing, just a urinary tract.

Hirjas have been protesting and campaigning for decades, for equal rights so they do not have to beg or sell themselves.

Baby Zulfiqar, 40, was the first transgender in Pakistan to get an identity card.

Baby, who is staying with a friend in Redbridge at the moment but plans to return home soon, was responsible for raising thousands of pounds worth of food year after year for the poor communities in Pakistan.

Her charity work was recognised by the United Nations, who convinced the Government to issue her with an identity card.

She said: "It was the happiest day of my life, I became an official citizen in my country."

However, the stigma of being a transgender remains. Baby said there is always the undercurrent simmering threat of violence on the streets, even in broad daylight.

Many transgenders flee from their homes when they hit puberty to the nearest transgender community.

Transgender's parents are mocked by relatives for producing a transgender child.

Sadly, the parents of the transgender child will take out their frustration on the child and inflict emotional and physical pain on them.

Baby said: "We know the community exists as a child, because they visit the villages and towns dancing for a living – they literally dance, door-to-door, it's like a form of begging, because there is no other way of surviving."

In an extraordinary case of hypocrisy, the Hirjas are invited to funerals, and will travel the whole country as a 'rent a crowd.'

Baby said: "If a family find it difficult to grieve, we will wait at a funeral, a huge crowd of us. Sometimes, it's too much wailing!"

"Occasionally we are asked to go and bless a family if they have a baby boy, because we are seen closer to God because some of us never have sex in our lifetime."

This year, the Pakistani government has taken to employing the transgenders as tax collectors.

They turn up in a large group, dressed as men, singing and dancing, wearing lipstick, - and in the very conservative Muslim communities, will ultimately embarrass tax debtors into paying up.

This month, the Pakistani government confirmed a 25 per cent increase in the amount of tax collected on the previous month!

Redbridge community leader, Abdia Iqbal MBE, said: "In more developed countries, the youngsters can get surgery to make them one gender or other, but in Pakistan and much of India, this is not the case so the child suffers."

High-Tech keeping homes safe from the elements

(Feature)

Over 70% of homes in the UK have a flat roof incorporating a mineral felt finish - that's seven out of ten home owners with a potential flat roof problem...

Mineral felt is prone to a slow breakdown often allowing water ingress to cause unnecessary problems before being visibly detected within the home. Mineral felt has a tendency to blister throughout summer months and eventually becoming brittle and cracking during colder periods, cracking will also appear around exposed edge's and other points of detail i.e. around pipes, skylights, flashings into brickwork or under tiles etc. These areas are where workmanship is most crucial. Felt also attracts moss & algae further degrading the roof surface.

It is very important that every homeowner is made aware that insurance companies no longer cover or accept any liability for any external or internal damage caused by a leaking felt roof. Unless it can be proven storm damage any such claim is categorised as wear & tear or poor workmanship leaving the homeowner with the financial burden.

In 1999 High-Tech Roofing first introduced the most advanced flat roof technology to the homeowner. Protan who are based in Norway have a pedigree in the design and manufacture of waterproofing materials dating back to 1939 producing the first roofing membrane in 1971. Protan is our preferred PVC single-ply flat roofing system. Protan will cope with all climates as millions of square metres are installed here and abroad with a proven track record stretching over four decades. Protan is predominantly an architect specified roofing system winning many awards and serving the very competitive commercial sector.

High-Tech have installed and proudly guarantees over 6000 domestic projects along with an untarnished reputation.

A High-Tech roof is dimensionally stable and solar reflective, it is unaffected by climate change and 100% resistant to moss & algae. As it is vapour permeable it can never blister or become brittle and crack. We will create an anti-slip 100% storm resistant watertight roof, maintenance free and guaranteed never to leak.

Man attacked

A 20-YEAR-OLD man who was walking along Park Lane, in Southend, was punched in the face on Sunday, December 11, at 12.45am.

The suspect was a white man in his late teens, 5ft 11ins tall and of a medium build.

He had brown hair and wore a grey hooded top and dark trousers.

He was with three other men who were not involved in the unprovoked attack.

It is believed he caught a train from Southend East after the incident.

Call 101 with information.

Be part of map

A PAIR of Foundation Art and Design students from South Essex College have created a map of Southend that people can be part of.

The duo have cut and stuck more than 125 rolls of electrical tape on the interior of Campus Gallery in Southend.

Matt Purdon, 18, from Rochford, said: "We wanted to change the idea of what is an art exhibition and that it just doesn't have to be a picture in a gallery. We wanted to take a mundane material and use it as a medium as you would a pencil or a piece of charcoal."

House burgled

A BURGLAR has stolen a phone and a wallet from the kitchen of a home in Burnham Road, Leigh.

The theft took place sometime between 11pm on Monday, November 28, and Tuesday, November 29.

The items are thought to be worth around £180.

Burglars make a clean getaway

BURGLARS stole food from somebody's fridge and freezer along with some washing powder.

The thieves smashed

a conservatory window at the home in Boscombe Road, Southend, some time between 1.30am and 6.30am on Wednesday, December 7, and gained entry.

Anyone with any information should contact PC Dan Brand on 101.

Lock your doors

POLICE are warning people to lock their properties following a spate of break ins around the Southend area.

PC Dan Brand, who is investigating three different burglaries, said each of the cases highlights the importance of fully locking doors and windows.

He said: "It only takes seconds for a burglar to nip into your home through an unlocked door and steal your belongings so take steps to prevent being caught out by an opportunist burglar."

Donate unwanted coats

STAFF at the Wilkinson store in Southend are urging their customers to help support their charity of the year, Age UK, by donating their old winter coats in a bid to help raise extra funds to keep elderly people in the community warm this winter.

Each winter, at least 250 elderly people die needlessly from the effects of cold weather, but with Age UK's support older people can get benefits and grants to help with heating costs; get access to groceries during bad weather and gain some important human contact, for those who would otherwise have none.

Library exhibition

SOUTHEND Library will be holding an exhibition called 'Colour and Pattern in Nature' in its Central Gallery.

The show by Judy Goring will start on Tuesday, January 3, and finish Tuesday, January 24.

The exhibition explores a collection of pictures focusing on the details and patterns which occur in nature.

Warning over fake booze

ESSEX residents are being warned to avoid traders selling smuggled alcohol this Christmas.

The warning comes after a number of major seizures across the country in recent weeks of illegal wine, beer, cider and vodka.

A HMRC spokesperson said: "Smuggled cheap alcohol is often not the bargain it appears to be; it may be counterfeit and potentially dangerous and is often sold to underage drinkers." More than 300,000 litres of beer, 120 litres of wine and 72,000 litres of cider have been intercepted in recent weeks.

Reward to catch burglars

CRIMESTOPPERS is offering cash rewards of up to £1,000 for information leading to the arrest and charge of those committing burglary and handling stolen goods in Southend.

In a crack down on burglary in Essex in the run up to Christmas, the independent charity Crimestoppers wants Southend residents to tell them what they know about burglary and who is handling stolen goods in their community.

Burglars raided 691 homes in Southend last year and 6849 homes across the whole of Essex during last year.

Only calls made to 0800 555 111 will be eligible for a reward.

Council performing well

AN AUDIT report conducted by the Royal Society of the Prevention of Accidents has confirmed Southend Council is working at a level four in Health and Safety practice.

Southend Councillor for corporate support services, Andrew Moring said the council had made terrific improvements to move up three places in the last two years.

He said: "We are also told that very few authorities have been awarded level four and five and that this result places us in the top quarter of all those audited."

It's panto time!

ALADDIN will be playing at the Cliffs Pavilion until the end of December.

People will have the chance to get tickets all the way up to Saturday, December 31.

Shane Richie leads the cast of this year's spectacular.

Tickets cost between £15 and £29.50.

To book your tickets visit the Cliffs Pavilion website at www.thecliffspavilion.co.uk or call the Box Office on 01702 351135.

Singer to set for one off show

KATHERINE Jenkins will be performing a one off show at the Cliffs Pavilion on Tuesday, January 10.

Katherine, the record-breaking multi-platinum selling mezzo-soprano, comes to Southend as part of her first theatre tour in three years.

She will perform tracks from her new album as well as some of her best-known songs that she has performed and recorded over her last seven albums.

To book your tickets visit the Cliffs Pavilion website at www.thecliffspavilion.co.uk or call the Box Office on 01702 351135.

Man hurt in fire

A MAN suffered burns to both of his hands and minor smoke inhalation after a fire broke out above a kebab shop in London Road, Westcliff.

Firefighters used two hose reels to put the fire out on Sunday, December 18, at 2.39am.

A high pressure fan was used to clear the flat and the 36-year-old man was left in the care of the Ambulance service.

Flat ablaze

FIREFIGHTERS were called to a ground floor flat in Chancellor Road, Southend, on Sunday, December 18, at 12.17am.

A hose reel was used to extinguish the fire nad a high pressure fan used to celar smoke.

Police were called to the scene as witnesses reported seeing youths running from the property.

Complaints against police fall

COMPLAINTS against Essex Police officers decreased by 12 per cent in 2010/2011, a new report shows.

Statistics published by the Independent Police Complaints Commission (IPCC) show that a total of 880 complaints against Essex Police officers were recorded compared with 997 the previous year.

This compares with a four per cent decrease nationally.

Message scam

RESIDENTS are being urged not to fall for a voicemail message scam.

The caller leaves a message stating that an important e-mail has not been received and asks the recipient to contact them via a premium rate phone number.

If the number is dialled, the caller could be charged at least 50p per minute.

Essex on the big screen

By Paul Peterson

THE COUNTY'S coastline will be seen in the BBC's adaptation of Great Expectations this Christmas, but it's not the first time Essex has appeared on our TV and cinema screens.

Locations across Essex have been used by some of the most well known film directors to provide a backdrop for some of the most memorable movie moments in cinema history.

World class talent including Steven Spielberg, George Lucas, John Madden, Danny Boyle, Paul Greengrass and Mike Newell have all come to Essex to make their movies.

TV production companies are also drawn to Essex and the county has appeared in some of the most popular shows on screen from Eastenders to London's Burning and Spooks.

But why do film directors and TV producers want to let their cameras roll in Essex?

One of the reasons is quite simply because the Essex environment is filled with contrasts. "The changing landscapes of Essex are especially attractive to film-makers," says Kerry Ixer, director of filming related services at Film Link. "From its urban and industrial landscapes, farms, countryside and woodlands to a coastline with wild salt marshes, mudflats, estuaries and vibrant seaside towns. Everything a film-maker could want."

The 2000 film Essex Boys featured locations across the county including the Dartford Tunnel, Eastern Esplanade, Chalkwell, Marine Parade, Southend, Epping Forest and the Bata Shoe Factory in East Tilbury, which served as a production office during filming.

Essex is also attractive to film and TV makers because of the county's rich heritage.

The market town of Hadleigh served as a suitable backdrop for the BBC TV series Lovejoy, while Ingatestone Hall near Brentwood doubled for the exterior of Bleak House in the BBC's 2005 TV version of the Charles Dickens classic novel of the same name.

The funeral scenes for Mike Newell's British hit movie Four Weddings and a Funeral (1994) were filmed at St Clements Church, off London Road, in West Thurrock, while the State Cinema in Grays was seen briefly in Who Framed Roger Rabbit (1988) and the movie Chicago Joe and the Showgirl (1990) was also filmed at the historic building.

The county is also a popular place to film because of its close proximity to London and the studio network according to Film Link located at Elstree Studios in Borehamwood.

The close links of Essex with London is also one of the reasons for the success of the Action Underwater Studios, based at the Burnt Mill Industrial Estate in Basildon.

Key scenes for some of the greatest movies ever made have been filmed on location at the studios including The Bourne Supremacy (2004), Star Wars Episode I (1999), Shanghai Knights (2003), Enigma (2001), Sexy Beast (2000) and Thunderbirds (2004).

The studios have been uniquely designed for all types of surface and underwater filming and feature a removable roof so they can be used for indoor and outdoor film shoots.

The latest BT Infinity adverts featuring an Olympic swimmer was recently made at the studios, which have also been used in some of the most popular TV shows including E4's Dirty, Pretty, Things, and BBC's Eastenders, Top Gear and Monarch of the Glen.

Despite the large number of films and TV shows made here, it seems much of the work still goes on behind the scenes and Essex remains as some what of a hidden screen gem.

But it is through television that the county has arguably moved to a new level of national awareness with the popularity of ITV2 love it or hate it show The Only Way is Essex.

The film and TV industry itself, however, has been making use of the county for many decades while the local councils, county council and emergency services have established a reputation of being film-friendly and do all they can to accommodate filming requests.

Kerry added: "They recognise the economic benefits filming can bring and that film and TV programmes with a popular viewing audience can also boost visitors to their areas."

The Essex economy received an estimated £1.8million investment through film, TV and commercials in 2009/10 through location fees and purchase of local services and skills.

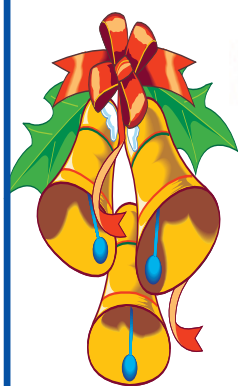

But the county's popularity has still continued to grow and based on filming schedules for 2011/12 the screen industry is currently worth an estimated £1.9million to Essex.

Two new movies with scenes filmed in Essex are already due for cinema release in 2012. The crime thriller Welcome To The Punch, starring James McAvoy as Max Lewinsky, filmed scenes at Hanningfield Reservoir and the film version of The Woman in Black, starring Daniel Radcliffe, was filmed extensively in top locations across Essex including Osea Island, Layer Marney Tower, All Saints Church and the Colne Valley Railway.

ACTION: Benjamin Scarsbrook and Natalie Williams outside the State Cinema in Grays.

Panto round-up

It's panto time - oh yes it is!

Christmas has come and gone but there is still time to take in a pantomime. LIZ WADE reviews what's on

IF YOU want a good seat, to be assured of a barrel of laughs and enjoy an evening out with the whole family this festive season then take your seat at Thameside Theatre.

This year's festive feast at the Grays theatre tells the story of Aladdin with the help of former Eastenders star Dean Gaffney as Wishee Washee, and Big Brother winner Brian Belo as the Genie.

They are joined by an outstanding cast of actors, dancers and children who all go that extra mile to make sure the small theatre's panto is much bigger than its surroundings. With fantastic costumes, magical scenery and plenty of extras, including a water pistol battle and a magic carpet ride like no other, the panto really is a must.

Tickets cost between £14 and £17 for adults, £12 and £14 for children, and £48 to £58 for families and are available from the Box Office by calling 0845 300 5264, or by visiting www.thurrock.gov.uk/theatre

As well as Aladdin at Thameside Theatre in Grays there are a range of other pantomimes and festive treats throughout the area. Here are just some of them:

■ DICK WHITTINGTON - Towngate Theatre, St Martins Square, Basildon
Children's television star, Simon Fielding, has returned to the Basildon theatre to produce, direct THUMBS UP: The cast of Aladdin at Thameside Theatre, Grays.

and star in this year's production of Dick Whittington, which runs until January 2, 2012. For further information and tickets, which cost from £16 for adults, and from £14.50 for children, call the Towngate Theatre Box Office on 01268 465465 or visit www.towngatetheatre.co.uk

■ SLEEPING BEAUTY - Civic Theatre, Fairfield Road, Chelmsford

This year's enchanting fairy tale at the Civic Theatre is being staged in association with the production company, One From The Heart. The pantomime, which runs until to January 2, 2012, looks set to entertain audiences of all ages with laughter, magic, music and dance. Tickets for the spellbinding production cost from £15 to £18, with special rates for families and they are available by calling the theatre's Box Office on 01245 606505 or visiting www.chelmsford.gov.uk

■ ALADDIN - The Broadway Theatre, Broadway, Barking
Meet poor street urchin Aladdin, Princess Jasmine and Widow Twankey, watch out for evil Abanazer and laugh along with Wishee Washee this festive season.

Tickets for the production, which runs up until December 31, cost £14 for adults, £11 for children and concessions, and £46 for a family of four at off peak times or £15 for adults, £12 for children and concessions, and £50 for families during peak performances. For further information or tickets call the Box Office on 020 8507 5607 or visit www.thebroadwaybarking.com

■ CINDERELLA - Queen's Theatre, Billet Lane, Hornchurch
Cinderella is off to The Ball at the Queen's Theatre and you are all invited - right up to January 14, 2012. Boo the Ugly Sisters, laugh along with Buttons, and enjoy catchy songs, spectacular sets, and colourful costumes.

Tickets cost from £14 for children, from £19.50 for adults, and from £59 for a family ticket, and are available by calling 01708 443333 or by visiting www.queens-theatre.co.uk

■ ALADDIN - Cliffs Pavilion, Southend
Eastender's star, comedian and television presenter, Shane Richie, leads the cast of this year's spectacular show at the Cliffs Pavilion.

Aladdin, which is staged by the world's biggest pantomime producer, Qdos Entertainment, will keep the whole family laughing until the final curtain comes down, with the usual panto ingredients.

Tickets for the pantomime, which runs until December 31, cost between £15 and £29.50. For further information and tickets call the Box Office on 01702 351135 or visit www.southendtheatres.org.uk

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

- Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.
- 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers' and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.
- To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.
- The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:
 - Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
 - Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
 - Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.
- The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.
- Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.
- The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.
- Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.
- All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.
- All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.
- Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.
- The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.
- Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.
- All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.
 - Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.
 - Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.
- Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.
- All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.
- All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.
- The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.
- The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers
Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies.

Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category
All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data Protection
The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors. Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.

Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.
